

WE NOMINATE

Oskar Morgenstern, a confirmed Princetonian of 16 years standing and one of the world's leading mathematical economists, who has given "outsiders" still another reason to look upon this community as the Nation's most unusual, and probably most diversified, center of research. The 52-year old Morgenstern now directs an economics research project that with federal financial backing is concerned with applying highly theoretical economics to the basic problems of the American economy, with considering such questions as "Can certain programs such as the defense program be imposed on our total economy?" or "What occurs when a particular industry gears itself for defense or undergoes a change because of a lessening or increase in the demand for its products?"

A brief decade ago—before the A-and-H-Bombs became the common denominator in dividing the world into West and East—the average scholar would have given short shrift to theories which would have given social scientists any power of prediction in the variables of economics. That would have been before any attention had been paid to the now famed "Theory of Games and Economic Behavior," evolved by Morgenstern and John von Neumann of the Institute for Advanced Study and long before the completion of the "von Neumann computer" (January, 1952) which permits Morgenstern's team of economists and mathematicians to run off the millions of computations involved in an analysis of the interaction of different industries.

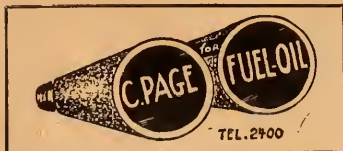

It was in September, 1944, that the Princeton University Press published the results of years of research in the 625-page von Neumann-Morgenstern volume known as "The Theory of Games." Because the book was so formidable intellectually, with nearly every page bristling with formulae, professional critics and the technical economic journals passed it over for some 18 months—until economists awoke to the fact that "here is a new approach to economic analysis which seeks to solve hitherto insoluble problems of business strategy by developing and applying to them a new mathematical theory of games of strategy like poker, chess and solitaire. In May, 1953, The New York Times, in commenting editorially on "Poker and Sociology," emphasized that these theories "can teach us something about economic and social life that we did not know before."

Morgenstern, a native of Silesia, who voluntarily severed his connections with Nazi-plagued Austria in the late 1930's, joined the University Faculty in 1938. He had earlier held a Rockefeller Memorial Fellowship, had taught at the University of Vienna and from 1931 until 1938 had served as Director of the Austrian Institute for Business Cycle Research. Throughout his career he has maintained an intimate knowledge of the European economy. Two years ago, he jolted many out of their complacency with the forthright statement that Western Europe is "wide open and no center of power" and expressed the opinion that a Russian attack then could not have been stopped "short of the Pyrenees."

For strengthening the West's grasp of economic and social problems; for seeking to establish more effective lines of communication between business and executives and economists; for broadening Princeton's horizons of research; he is Town Topics' nominee for Planning for the Future. Consideration is being given by borough officials to the details of a $250,000 capital improvements ordinance, which may be introduced at the August meeting of the mayor and council. The session has been postponed to Tuesday, August 17, to coincide better with the end of a number of vacation schedules.

The Borough Planning Board has recommended introduction of an ordinance approving a quarter of a million dollars for a variety of improvements to be made within the municipality. The sum would be raised by a bond issue, and would be an appropriation over and above the $200,000 already found necessary for expansion of the incinerator and sewage disposal plant.

Among the principal projects that may be undertaken by the borough in the years immediately ahead are street improvement,

How Many?—And Where?

Princetonians have been made aware of the remarkable post-war growth of their community through signs such as traffic, school enrollments, and home building, but it will take the 1956 preliminary census to answer definitely the question: how many people live in Princeton?

The 1950 census figures for the borough were widely criticized as inaccurate—but no one has been able to prove the point. Present estimates range around a figure of 12,230 persons living in the Borough and 6,000 in the Township. Contrasted with the 1940 census figures of 7,719 residents in the Borough and 3,251 in the Township, the current estimates show a dramatic increase. Their accuracy, however, remains to be verified.

including the widening of a number of thoroughfares such as John, Jackson and Prospect; sidewalk construction in certain areas where it does not now exist; and the possible purchase of one or more off-street parking yards.

Among the latter marked for such consideration are those owned by Princeton Municipal Improvement east of the post office; Public Service on Spring Street; and Princeton University at the corner of University Place and Mercer Street. All of these lots are now on loan to the borough in return for remission of taxes.

"Parallel to Nassau." Construction of an adequate jail in Borough Hall, the acquisition of road equipment and the addition of technical equipment to the sewage disposal plant are also being studied. None of the projects in ready to be undertaken in final form, and the entire sum of $250,000 may not be approved by the governing body when the time to introduce the ordinance arrives.

Not by any means wholly buried under more than two decades of talk, planning and abortive action is the project calling for a through street paralleling Nassau to the north. It may be a year before another green light is flashed—even at the conference table level—but there is reason to believe that once the already-blueprinted YMCA building becomes an actuality on ground between John Street and Bayard Lane, the familiar dream of many a traffic-conscious Princetonian will be revived.

Together with the improvements to incinerator and sewage disposal facilities and the proposed expansion of Princeton High School (figured at $1,770,000), borough residents are accordingly learning of some $2,220,000 in capital improvements specifically or tentatively planned for them. The $250,000 outlay for a variety of capital improvements has the approval of the planning board. That board and the mayor and council agree on the need for a $200,000 expenditure for improvements to the incinerator and sewage disposal plant.

The planning board has also given the board of education approval on plans for the expanded high school, citing two minor recommendations. These cover the need for additional off-street parking spaces and proper provision for loading and unloading buses on school property. Dr. Elizabeth H. Cawley, board of education president, has told the planning board that its two suggestions will be observed in the preparation of final plans for the building.

Heliport Recommended. The Township's board of zoning adjustment has recommended that the Township Committee grant a temporary permit for the operation of helicopter service from a heliport near the Princeton Shopping Center. Meeting in executive session Monday night, the board approved the motion by a vote of four to one. Dr. David A. McCabe was opposed. Residents of the area near the proposed heliport have objected on the grounds of noise and potential danger.

The motion recommended a permit for four months' operation. Two provisos were attached: 1) that no part of the heliport be within 250 feet of Township property in the area, and 2) that if the temporary permit is granted, a public hearing be held after three months to determine whether the permit should be continued. Since the Township Committee has cancelled its August meeting no further developments in the helicopter service question are likely until the committee meeting September 13.

Trenton to New York. Meanwhile this week, New York Airways has begun its two daily passenger flights to Trenton to New York and return. The Civil Aeronautics Board has approved Trenton-Princeton-New Brunswick-New York schedules. Theodore J. Tams Jr., Princeton attorney who has represented New York Airways before the board of adjustment, reported that his client will maintain present mail service here through the heliport at the RCA Laboratories across Carnegie Lake, but passenger service will await the decision on the new heliport location.

The present Trenton schedule calls for flights leaving at 7:20 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. for LaGuardia and Idlewild, with return flights taking off from LaGuardia at 2:40 and 6:15 p.m. According to New York Airways, the helicopter service will cut one to two hours off the ground travel time for the journey to the airports. The fare from Trenton is $10, plus 10 per cent federal tax.

Dollars From Heaven. A rainfall that Williard H. Allen of 44 Nassau Street, New Jersey's Secretary of Agriculture, classified as "worth millions of dollars to New Jersey farmers," came pelting down during the early hours of Tuesday morning. While the degree of precipitation throughout New Jersey varied widely, some areas receiving only a third of an inch, the Princeton area benefited from 1.28 inches. This is more than a fourth of the normal rainfall for August, alleviating to some degree conditions traceable to the driest July since 1932. The total for the year, however, is still about nine inches below normal.

The rain cut short around-the-clock irrigation projects, carried on for the past two months in many farm areas at considerable trouble and expense. It came in time to aid fruit crops, such as peaches and apples, and will benefit vegetables and pasture lands for fall harvest. Much of the New Jersey sweet corn crop and a large number of potato fields were damaged by the drought beyond recall, agriculture officials said. They emphasized that additional rainfalls of sizeable proportions are necessary to aid the water supply in many areas.

It's New to Us

It's the Type, Royal has a new portable typewriter and in the modest words of the company and of the Princeton Book Mart, where the machine is for sale, it's sensational.

It's called the "Quiet DeLuxe" and it comes in a fibreglass carrying case that is light and indestructible. As for the Q, de L. itself, it has a new speed selector that lets the typist dial the carriage speed best suited to his own peculiar brand of typing.

For example, if you let your children use it, the Q, de L. can be disassembled down to the requirement of a young beginner. When you set your own expert fingers to the keys, you can dial it for your own touch.

There is also the Magic Margin that only big Royals have had up to now. Sets both right and left margins instantly. Also a line meter that shows you the number of typewritten lines remaining on the page (good for neat themes). Also a visible tab set that is faster and easier than the ones on many portables.

By selling the Royal, the Book Mart (11 Palmer Square West) becomes the only off-campus store with adult typewriters. What we want to know is—does this Royal make mistakes? We need a machine that will hit the right key every time.

Younger customers of the Mart may leave their typist parents to shift for themselves while they examine the new cowboy and Indian-models just in from—of all places, Germany. West Germany, no doubt.

These figures are like toy soldiers except that they are larger (about five inches) and made of a tough composition instead of metal. They are meticulously accurate, even to their small holsters and feathered head-dresses. They are posed variously: Indian chiefs as war-dancers, braves about to shoot an arrow, a cowboy on a rearing pony, a pioneer bound to the stake with a hatchet buried in the wood above his head, five Indians in a canoe, and many more.

Some of the figures are detachable: for example, the Indian rider comes off his horse and the warriors can be removed from their canoes. They are wired so that if they break, the whole thing doesn't shatter to pieces. Prices are 59c and $1.35, depending on size.

For nature study, consider for your child a wooden jigsaw puzzle showing bird or animal life in color. These puzzles, one-quarter inch thick, show barn swallows, flickers, raccoon babies and many other birds and animals in their natural surroundings. Each puzzle is about nine by twelve inches, priced at $1.75.

In the book department, we found a few and permanent display of the great Skira art books. These volumes, about $20 each, are monuments of art history and anyone who is familiar with the smaller Skira portfolios will be eager to see these comprehensive surveys.

This Great Centuries of Painting series has volumes on Modern Painting, Etruscan Painting, the Art of Byzantium, Spanish Painting, and so on.

Button Up Your Overcoat. That is what they told us at Mayme Mead's the day we walked into 188 Nassau wearing a sundress and drying the brow with a piece of Kleenex. Winter, it seems, is coming. To prepare, Mayme has a collection of handsome winter coats, tweed and woolen dresses and matching hats.

The idea this fall will be hats that match what goes beneath. A set consisting of dress, coat and hat, for example, is made on Bar—Continued on Page 8

Delay on Water Supply
Meanwhile, the Legislature recessed this week without taking action on the development of new water supplies. One measure left hanging called for appropriation of $1,000,000 from surplus tax funds to purchase a site approved for a reservoir in nearby Hunterdon County.

Another called for a referendum on an $85,000,000 bond issue to finance the reservoirs themselves, one in Hunterdon and one in the southern part of the State. The present date set for reconvening the Legislature is November 15, when droughts are normally only summer-time newspaper headlines.

New License Plan Delayed. The Legislature's dispersal also eliminated the possibility of phasing the license-by-mail plan in effect next year. The measure had passed in the Assembly but was shelved in the Senate, on the grounds that "it needs further study."

Governor Meyner had approved the legislation, calling for delivery

Police Jobs Open

The Borough of Princeton will accept applications from men interested in joining its police department. Applicants must have lived in the municipality for two years and be between 21 and 35 years of age. If they are over 35, they may deduct a year for each 12 months spent in the armed forces.

Full details may be obtained from Chief Edward W. Mahan, Jr., who is one of three men expected to retire from the force this year. The other two are Sergeant Thomas R. Murray and Patrolman James J. Hennon. All of them have had between 25 and 30 years of service in the department.

ery of registration and driver's license renewals by mail. Under the plan—sponsored by the Motor Assemblyman Frank Thompson—drivers would renew their licenses once every three years, the date being determined by the day of their birth, thus staggering the procedure for the Motor Vehicle Department over a full year.

Automobile dealers were against the plan, claiming that higher fees for state inspection and driver permits would cost motorists an additional $1,500,000 annually. Mr. Thompson, forecasting an overall saving of time for motorists and money for the State, commented: "I think it's a disgrace the way the Senate has played around with the convenience of 2,000,000 people."

Finished Fable. Princeton's literary tradition, dating back through two centuries, gains another chapter with the publication of William Faulkner's new novel, entitled "A Fable." Large portions of it were written here, with Mr. Faulkner completing it last fall while a resident of Princeton.

He stayed here as the guest of Saxo Commins, editor-in-chief at Random House, while finishing the book that was nine years in the writing. Mr. Faulkner considers it his most novel work since his first novel more than a quarter century ago. A religious allegory based on the events of the last French armistice toward the end of the first World War, the book is considered likely to be one of this year's most widely discussed novels.

Escalators for Bambergers. A set of escalators on which shoppers will be carried at the rate of 80 feet per minute is being installed in the L. Bamberger and Company store, scheduled to open early next month in the Princeton Shopping Center. They will be the first in operation in the Princeton area.

The stainless steel steps and aluminum side rails will carry 5,000 persons an hour. Charles B. Ferguson, store manager, has announced. They will be located in the center of the first and second floors, equal distances away from the front mall and the rear parking lot entrance.

Mr. Ferguson said that the moving stairs will be flanked with displays of merchandise with the maximum assortment and appeal, he pointed out that this permits rapid inspection of store stocks by the customer while he is on his way to make another purchase.

AFS Students Visit Here. Princeton families and the Princeton Committee for American Field Service international scholarships this week played host to 35 boys and girls from 11 Western European nations.

The group of AFS scholars was one of eight which are touring this country by bus following completion of the school year. They arrived here Tuesday afternoon and were met by their hosts from 25 families in the area.

Wednesday's program called for a tour and luncheon at the RCA Laboratories and visits to the Walker-Gordon rotolactor and the University Campus. The group was entertained at a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McNeil of Cherry Valley Road and later at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nelson of 210 Elm Road. The scholars were scheduled to depart Thursday morning for Washington.

Hospital Fete Nets $9,086

The fete staged in June for Princeton Hospital by members of its Women's Auxiliary netted $9,086.24, it was announced this week by Mrs. David Miller, chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

Mrs. Miller said that the figure represents all income with the exception of the contribution pledged by the Princeton Shopping Center. She reported that the center had indicated it would give a sum equal to the rent paid by the stores open on its first day (which coincided with the day of the fete), but that the auxiliary has not yet received such a gift.

Mrs. Wendell L. Carlson, president of the auxiliary, said that the proceeds have been turned over to the hospital for capital expenditures. Announcement of the specific use to which the funds will be put will be made shortly.

Mrs. Gunther Schmitz will serve as director, with the program including Bible work, handicraft and singing by the pupils.

The two-week period has provided an opportunity to include in the curriculum Bible stories, songs, games, slides and film strips depicting Biblical events and handicraft, with some of the latter to be sent to New Guinea. Field trips were made to the Walker-Gordon Laboratories and to Nassau Hall.

Serving as teachers and officers, in addition to Mrs. Schmitz, were Mrs. Harold Benda, Mrs. Edward Connors, Mrs. William Ferrara, Mrs. Henry Geils, Miss Helen Geils, Miss Carol Goetz, Mrs. Alex Gottiaux, Alfred Hirsch, Mrs. John Kisthardt, Mrs. Louis Martin, Mrs. Milton Nauss, Pastor Nauss, Mrs. John Panek and Mrs. Henry Schmidt.

PTA in Safety Drive. The Parent-Teacher Association of the Township schools has announced through its president, Dr. Warren G. Findley, that it has joined with many other organizations in the state to support the "Slow Down and Live" campaign.

The drive against speeders, careless drivers and other traffic violators was launched by Governor Meyner and governors of 23 other states in April. The campaign will continue through Labor Day.

The PTA has assured Township Police Chief James Campbell that its membership will support him in any enforcement program directed against speeding and other traffic violations.

Sportsmen's Picnic Sunday. The seventh annual outing of the Princeton Italian-American Sportsmen's Club and the Ladies Auxiliary is scheduled for this Sunday from 12 noon to 8 p.m. at the club property on Journey's End Road.

The Thomas Girls Chorus of Princeton will sing and a professional vocalist and two accordionists will also entertain. The outing will include dancing and various types of games and prizes for all ages. This year's menu includes Italian peppers and sausages in torpedo rolls, sweet corn, watermelons, clams, hot dogs, hamburgers, ice cream and pastries.

The club grounds have been improved recently by the completion of a permanent indoor dance hall.

two new grills and a picnic bar. Outdoor lights have been installed in the picnic grove.

Mrs. Angelina Cifelli and Clarence Di Donato are serving as co-chairmen for the outing. Tickets may be obtained from Nicholas Cifelli, 125 Linden Lane, (0429) or at the picnic entrance. In the event of rain, the outing will be held a week from Sunday, August 15.

Contracts Awarded. Lewis C. Bowers & Sons have been awarded the contract for additions and alterations to Borough Hall. The Bowers bid for $9,398 was under those submitted by Matthews Construction Company and Tower Construction Company. Expansion of the office of Clerk Robert F. Mooney will be the principal change involved.

The mayor and council also awarded a contract for the construction of Stanley Avenue and Leavitt Lane to Agabiti Brothers, whose bid of $16,616 was below that of O. E. Lewis & Son.

Jaycees Sponsor Picnic. The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce will give a picnic this Saturday for about 60 children from the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman. The picnic will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Washington's Crossing state park.

Playgrounds Staff Changes. Two members of the playgrounds staff will be replaced for the final two weeks of the program and a third will resign a week early, according to an announcement from Howard B. Waxwood, Jr., chairman of the playgrounds committee, and C. Edward Christian, summer director.

Mrs. Janet B. Stellenwerf, a former member of the staff, will succeed Miss Benedicta Chang as handicraft instructor for the final two weeks. Miss Chang is moving from Princeton.

Charles Davis will be succeeded by Val Dougherty as director of the High School playground. Mr. Davis is leaving for travel in England and Scotland. George Sorenson will leave the Harrison Street playground a week early in order to attend the Stevens Institute engineering camp.

Compton Names Gorleigh. Rex Gorleigh of Alexander Street has been named the representative in Mercer and Burlington Counties for Compton's Encyclopedia. He will also handle sales of the 15-volume set in some parts of eastern Pennsylvania.

Mr. Gorleigh was formerly the executive director of Princeton Group Arts. Active here as an artist who has arranged and participated in numerous community exhibitions, he teaches private classes in art throughout the year.

Bugbee Honored. The American Hospital Association has voted its highest honor, the Award of Merit, to George Bugbee, president of the Health Information Foundation and a recent resident of Princeton.

Mr. Bugbee was executive director of the American Hospital Association from 1943 until May of this year. During his 11 years as the chief executive officer of the association, it expanded rapidly in membership and importance in the field of health. When Mr. Bugbee joined the AHA in 1943, some 3,200 hospitals were members; today, membership has increased to 5,200, representing 90% of the nation's general hospital beds.

The Award of Merit will be presented to Mr. Bugbee at the close of the association's 56th annual convention to be held in Chicago from September 13-16.

—Air Force Appointments. Democratic Congressman Charles E. Howell has announced the qualifications for applicants to the new Air Force Academy which will accept cadets at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver, Colo., in July, 1955. The permanent academy will be established at Colorado Springs as soon as possible.

ing princess lines in a Royal Stewart plaid.

Another set, this one oint and hat only, comes in a strong black and white plaid, its coat cut so simply that it looks like a tired pancake. A stiff two-inch wool antenna sticks up from its top. Coat is $89.95, hat is $10.

Many of the dresses on Mayme Mead's racks are rabbit-hair angora, or a combination of wool and fur that gives a caterpillar look to the surface of the fabric. We liked a dress-up rabbit-hair in navy with taffeta waistband and a wide neck. Another navy has a rabbit-hair jersey top with taffeta skirt.

On a junior-size dress, the angora mixture gives a baby-soft look to grey wool acetate. The wool and fur mixture turns out a deep rose dress with straight skirt, wide neck and short sleeves. Mostly wide shallow necks on these dresses, wool or not.

Tweed fabric is cut in full classic princess style on a grey with black velvet cuffs and neckband and on a nubby grey tweed with front buttons.

One of the most memorable wool dresses is a plain round-neck dress made of deep-dyed stripes that might have come from Joseph's coat-of-many-colors. The stripes are purple, gold, grey and black in dyes, almost dull shades and the effect they produce is sombre and striking.

Gold Polly. Not a chilly parrot but an ice-cube tray is Poly Flex, a tray made of polystyrene plastic, shaped to give you slivers of ice. The sections are an inch deep and two inches long but only one-quarter inch thick.

Slivers like these are easy to crush for summer drinks. Water freezes faster, too, we imagine, and you can harvest your crop of cubes or chips in no time.

For $31 at The Wright Store, 130 Nassau.

Poly Flex is a plastic shell "paper" for your kitchen that is tough and long-lasting as the very shelves. Comes in a waffle-weave like pique in any of five colors.

The simple scalloped border adds a thrill. You can scrub it, wipe it off, even put it in your washer if you should spill the whole jar of jam. Twelve feet cost $2.95.

Stop-It is a cross-barred circle of plastic that clamps over your glass and keeps it from bumping you in the nose when you tilt for that last sip. Eight of these come in a box for $1 and the clip that holds the gadget to the glass is a different color in each of the eight, thereby making identification easy.

Fall Classic. Time was when the arrival of the new Sears Roebuck catalog was the event of the autumn on American farms. We may be somewhat more urban, but the fall new catalog still has its fascination and its values. The new one is out now, in the Princeton area.

Soon you'll be considering such things as the new decorator fabrics shed with gold fleck or line. Or if you sew, you'll be thinking of new fabrics like the Night-and-day blends of wool and rayon with woven-in designs—$1.88 a yard; or the tufted flannel; or if you're really ambitious, the all-wool dress felt, 72 inches wide, ready for skirts and accessories in almost any color.

Most of all, perhaps, you'll look for children's clothes like the new super-tough nine-ounce boys' jeans with a vulcanized double-knee guaranteed to wear and wear. For your toddler, look at Sears' new covered blanket that is really a blanket. Made of nylon acetate, it zips up the front to keep a child completely warm without additional bed-clothes.

New items may be ordered now from this new catalog. If you aren't on Sears' list, stop at the store as 73 Palmer Square West and thumb through its fascinating pages. (For details of a special three-day sale, see page 9.)

MOMMIE:

Little Sasie wants a new short'n curly hairdo for the first day of school!

How do we know? Because our little Sasie, age seven and one-half, tells us that the moppet she's had a haircut at the hair-dresser's platform and is hard at it, can't get for shortlets just like mommie's!

And why not? Nothing is more truly a little girl fashion, or more becoming to perky little heads, than a sweet short hairdo, curled just enough to give the soft young hair body and full maintenance. Little Sasie will love it, and you will find it so much easier to take care of... a factor worth considering!

Mothers are making appointments now for back-to-school haircuts and soft perms so that their small fry will be ready with proud—and pretty—heads, when school bells ring. You won't want to disappoint Sasie... so why not call for her appointment today?

Here are the Keys to your New Car

But Be Sure That Your New Car Is Not A Used Car! Buy It From An Authorized New Car Dealer And Get An "A" Title!

The keys to your new car are more than mere bits of metal fashioned to turn the ignition of your car on and off! They can be the key to many long years of happy and care-free motoring . . . they can open the door to adventure in far off places as well as giving you the pleasures and dependability of everyday travel in your own community! To assure you of the utmost in all the countless joys of new car ownership, it is necessary that you start out with a new car to begin with . . . not one that, through many dubious transactions, has found itself after hundreds of miles of care-less driving, in the hands of a used car dealer to be offered for sale as a "new car"!

There is no substitute for the expert factory approved care which, step-by-step, is followed by your authorized new car dealer to prepare a new factory fresh automobile for delivery to its first owner! There is no inferred "promise" to compare with the important New Car Guarantee which only a new car dealer can give to the buyer of a new automobile! There is no satisfaction to compare with that of knowing that all the facilities . . . the established honesty and integrity of an Authorized New Car Dealer stands squarely back of the automobile he sells!

MURRAY THEATRE
ON THE
PRINCETON CAMPUS

News of the Theatres

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

Season Extended. The colorful Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope has added two solid months to its schedule as one result of the most successful season in its 16-year history. Plays have been scheduled through October and November, making it a "full theatre," too.

Producer Michael Ellis plans to present four new plays during October and four all-time stage hits during November. His choices will be announced shortly. The Bucks Playhouse was the first summer theatre in the country to open this year and the November 27 closing will make it the last to darken.

A chief reason for the extension is the fact that the Playhouse has broken all previous box office records during the half season completed to date. The theatre has operated at 98 per cent of capacity, according to press representative Seymour Krawitz.

The schedule for the remainder of the summer includes: August 9-14, "Stalag 17"; 16-21, "Two Blind Mice"; 23-28, "The Champagne Complex" (premiere); August 30-September 11 (two weeks), "The Day Before Spring"; September 13-18, "The Facts of Life" (premiere); 20-25, "Dame Nature"; September 27-October 2, "Bernadine".

Current Attraction. The Bucks Playhouse attraction drawing to a close this Saturday evening is "The Automobile Man." Performances are nightly at 8:30, plus a Saturday matinee at 2:30. Elliot Nugent, Mildred Dunnock and Jerome Cowan are starred in the new comedy by Calder Willingham.

The ninth production of the season opening Monday for a week's run will be the hit "Stalag 17", which is getting to be something of an old favorite. The cast for the comedy-melodrama set in a German prison camp is headed by Murray Hamilton in the role of Sefton, the "hard operator."

MURRAY THEATRE

"She Loves Me Not" is completing a cheerful week at Murray Theatre with performances nightly through Saturday. Next to arrive on the University Players' schedule is a double bill which will include a new adaption of "Alice in Wonderland" and Paul Sias' one-act comedy "Gerald Loves Sandra Loves Paxon" as a curtain raiser.

Mario Siletti, one of the outstanding members of the Players company, has adapted "Alice". In contrast to the usual practice of styling theatrical production of classic imaginative work after the familiar Tenniel illustrations, Mr. Siletti has conceived the settings from the original illustrations which Lewis Carroll did when he wrote the work.

All the dialogue is taken directly from the published novel and the result is a kind of imaginative charade with dancing and music, combining to provide a series of sharp and distinctive human caricatures. Mr. Siletti's version has been presented once for a private audience and plans are being completed for its off-Broadway production this fall.

Mr. Siletti will direct the Players in "Alice". Featured in the cast will be Lelia Barry as Alice; Elizabeth Parrish (Red Queen); Philip Minor (the Mad Hatter); Honora Fergusson (March Hare); Leslie McAneny (Cheshire Cat) and George Petrarca (the Door-mouse).

In keeping with theatrical casting tradition, Ronald Harper will play the Duchess and Charles Robinson the Cook. Among others in the cast will be Pat Crawford (the White Queen), Munroe Wade (Gryphon), Charles Schultz (a musical Mock Turtle) and Mr. Siletti (Humpty-Dumpty). The musical score was composed and arranged by Claire Mann.

"Gerald L.S.P." is built around the comments of two stage-hands (Ronald Harper and James Baker) as they change scenery during a rehearsal. Pat Crawford will play Sandra, while her two lovers will be Thomas Whedon and George Petrarca. The whimsical playlet will be directed by Philip Minor.

It's a Scream. The Players' production of the locally-set "She Loves Me Not" made the tiny Murray stage the funniest place in America Monday night. Or at least this corner was so broken up by the show that it seemed that way, anyhow.

Confession: The Department has a slightly Princeton Triangle Club sense of humor, likes collegiate and New York gag lines, and has the kind of wonderful ideas about the 1920's which only those who were too late for the era can have.

Still, no one under 34 should miss this production and no reasons are at hand why anyone over 34 should. The Players are obviously having a ball doing the show and Monday's audience had one with them.

It's all there: flappers, bootleggers, radicals, Triangle gangsters, movie producers, press agents, newspapermen, photographers, racketeers, college kids and debs.

And — a frantic showgirl "heroine" named Curly Flagg, played by a Miss Chevi Colton. She's played the role before. —Continued on Page 17

First Place Won. Taking its final two games of the regular season, the Princeton Athletic Club finished in first place in its league and this week entered a playoff series. Following a single contest against third-place Montgomery, two out of three will be played against either Hinesville or Blawenburgh, with the first encounter set for Monday evening. Last week's triumph both were scored by comfortable margins, although the P.A.C. had to come from behind to trim Montgomery 13-6 and to beat Hinesville 14-0. Township. The losers were off to a 2-0 margin on Brookview Field by the 14-0 of the third. Ray Davis did walk and advanced on Chick Davis' sacrifice. Ray took second on the throw to the plate, stole third and came home when the Montgomery pitcher committed a balk.

A triple by Bob Montgomery with Wall Wells ahead in the fourth and a double steal engineered by Montgomery and Pete Johnson, set the Princeton contingent ahead for good. Chick Davis allowed six hits but blanked the losers after the third.

The score by innings: R. H. E.
Montgomery 01 00-2 6 2
Princeton 002 32x-7 5 1

Blawenburgh, Pat Tidy and Chick Davis combined to hurl an 8-4 triumph over Blawenburgh Friday, a six-run second giving the P.A.C. all the margin it needed. Tom Smith's bases-loaded triple was the big blow in that round, while a pair of singles by Del White and Ray Davis in each of the first two innings also aided the attack.

John Turney whacked a triple for Blawenburgh as the losers struck back with three in the third, but Princeton kept control of the game all the way. The score by innings:

R. H. E.
Princeton 160 10-8 7 0
Blawenburgh 013 00-4 5 1
Tidy, C. Davis (4) and Bob Dennett, Stevens and Gallup.

An exhibition game between the Princeton Sports Club and the P.A.C. on Brookview Field went to the latter, 8-3, with Charlie Perpetua throwing an abbreviated no-hitter and all of the losers' runs being unearned. They opened with one in the first and closed with two in the sixth, but the P.A.C. shoved five across in the last of the first and was never in trouble.

A game against New Brunswick Wednesday and the clash against the "Old Timers" of the Twin-M League this Thursday night complete the exhibition schedule for the season. The latter affair is set for 6 o'clock on Brookview Field.

Football Outlook '11. Three years ago, when two platoon football was still considered the best way to play the game, the sports pages of newspapers throughout the country carried a picture of Dick Kazmaier standing alone with ten football helmets lined up in single wing formation Every member of the offensive platoon that had carried Princeton through to an unbeaten season in 1953 save the All-American left-back had graduated.

This year the second of two-way football, will not find as many gaps to be filled, but they are still numerous. You can picture it this way: At front, Pete Milano at left tackle; Captain Herbuck next to him at right guard, are the only starters from 1953 on hand. Both ends, the left guard and the right tackle are gone.

In the backfield, two halfbacks (Don Flagg and Bill Acquisti) are still here, while big right half must be filled at quarterback and fullback. Few Ivy League teams have as tough a replacement problem.

A fortnight at Blairstown and another ten days before the opener with Rutgers on September 26 will result in a few changes, but off last year's performances plus belief in the potential ability of various players, this is the preseason starting lineup and the reserve immediately behind them:

At ends, Ben Spinelli and Joe Grotto. The former saw a fair amount of action as a sophomore last season, while Grotto, who has good speed, was a better-than-average tackle. His switch to the Tigers' flank was indicated here last week.

Don MacKliewe, freshman captain last fall, and Dick Thompson, a converted wingback, rank behind Spinelli on the left side. Joe DiRenzo, a sophomore good enough to win a letter in 1953, and Mort Chute, up from the jays, will spell Grotto. None of the ends is as tall as 6-3, and until they show progress as a group, will not rank as the equal of any of the end squads Princeton has had in the last five seasons.

Improvement Needed at Tackle. The vital tackle positions are particularly fluid at this writing. It's 205-lb. Bob Aldrich on the left and 210-lb. Dick Smith on the right. Aldrich saw limited service as a sophomore. Smith is now a senior and should be ready for a good year.

Both may be displaced, however. If George Kovatch and Pete Milano show the form they were the former had trouble with his blocking, after being a standout on defense in his first year on the varsity Milano disappointed with a poor showing in the Yale fray, and both will have to work their way up to starting assignments again.

Charlie Harder of last year's freshmen and Dick Moore, a player who weighs 206, are further replacements. The Tigers must develop tackle strength if their line is to stand up to the opposition this fall.

The center of the line appears strong insofar as both starting players and reserve strength goes, but the latter is untested in varsity competition. Wendell Inhofe, a 205-lb. converted tackle. Continued on Page 16 back. He is also the team's point after-touchdown specialist.

The second backfield is figured to be composed of Agnew at wingback, Bob Doub at quarter, Dick Frye as the tailback and sophomore John Futhy, fullback. A third quartet might consist of Jack Kraus, wingback; Fred Howie, quarterback; Dick Emery, tailback; and Ed Finch, fullback. All four are varsity reserves of last season.

Opponents Stronger. It will, quite definitely, be a year in which the burden of proof (i.e., proof of ability to reverse 1953's downward trend) rests on the Tigers' shoulders. The task is a big one, partially because reversal of form is always difficult to negotiate, and partially because a number of Princeton's opponents figure to be stronger than they have for the past several seasons. Notably, this includes Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale.

The estimates at this point are all theoretical. The first semi-accurate check on the season can be made after the stay at Blairstown and a probable scrimmage with Fordham. Another can be taken when the first three games (with Rutgers, Columbia and Penn) have been played. After that, the shape of the 1954 season will be definable in fairly clear fashion.

All-Star Game Set. A game between the winner of the Junior Baseball League (probably the L. C. Bowers nine) and an all-star team will be played Tuesday night at 8 on Brokaw Field. Bowers went into the final week with an 8-1 mark, two games ahead of Bordens at 6-3. Matthews (2-7) and Nassau Oil (2-8) trailed.

Charlie Sharp and Mike Stewart, sophomore guards, and Mike Bowman, 212-lb. center, should give the team better depth at these three positions than anywhere else in the lineup if they come along as expected.

Big Job for Cosentino. The starting backfield appears fairly well set. Bob Russell, a letterman out with a leg injury at the end of last season, figures to displace Bill Agnew as wingback. Frank Cosentino, 180-lb. converted fullback, has the task of converting to quarterback and learning to run the team. It's a tremendous assignment, particularly since he did not play a minute there as a sophomore.

The spark for the attack will come from Royce Flippin, one of the east's best sophomore backs a year ago. Playing one-plateau football behind a line that was markedly less able than the forward walls blocking for Kazmaier, Flipp compiled statistics that were comparable to Kazmaier's in his first year. He accounted for 1,103 yards and eight touchdowns to 1,155 yards and 11 touchdowns for Kaz. Flippin was slightly better in his rushing average, while his predecessor topped him in passing.

Dick Martin, understudy to Homer Smith, will start at full-which might be one reason why she fills out and fills up the part in such a wonderfully amusing way. Miss Colton does a wonderful job, from her delicious rendition of "You're Mean to Me", which opens the show, to the finish.

It's thoroughly unfair to single out anyone beyond this, because there wasn't a player who had more than five lines who didn't come up with at least one sparkling bit. It was a great night for "bits" and "takes" and behind it you can detect the touch of a master "takeman", producer Charles Schultz, who directed this week.

The departmental program is so thoroughly scribbled upon that the following list of favorites is in no particular order and by no means comprehensive:

George Petrarca as the radical; Monroe Wade and Phil Minor in a movie and telephone bit; Ron Harper and Lelia Barry in a gunman-debutante version of "Tiptoe Through the Tulips"; the wild news and photo scene; sympathizers' parade; "If I Had the Wings" and "Let's Do It" sung in prison; "Button-Up Your Overcoat"; Henry Siegle as the dean of Princeton University; "She Love Me Not" done by Charlie Robinson, Mr. Minor and Miss Colton; "After All You're All I'm After"; and so on.

Things like "The Gal that Galahad Had" matches even "If You Knew What the Gnu Knew" for a Triangle-type idea. The show's so wacky that they even turned on the air-conditioning once instead of the lights.

The production is most advantageously packed with music and John Eaton was a great asset as the accompanist. Hugh Hardy and James Baker did a fine job of setting the show, particularly in view of the fact that the Murray wasn't built to house a musical comedy. Might mention Howard Lindsay, who wrote the comedy, too.

Monday's audience wouldn't let the full cast "hot-cha" through a last chorus of the title song. They were clapping too hard. The Players have done some amusing, interesting and exciting things thus far this summer—but Princeton in the dead center of summer hasn't had entertainment like this in a long time.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Gone With the Wind (Thurs.-Sat.). Well, look who's back. It's hard to tell whether those who've seen it a couple of times before or those in the new "After GWTW" generation will enjoy it more. In case you've forgotten, the stars are Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh, and then there's that fire, too.

Showings will be at 2 and 8 on Thursday and Friday. On Saturday, showings will be continuous, with the film coming on at 1, 5 and 9.

About Mrs. Leslie. (Sun.-Tues.) still belongs in the category of "women's picture" although there is considerable maturity to it, as well as fine acting performances from Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan. It's a low-key film rich in character, incident and generally, in dialogue. About a love affair between an unhappy airplane manufacturer and a former sec-

Tues.) recaptures in often-vivid technicolor photography the plot skeleton of the well-known best seller. Through no fault of the fine acting by Humphrey Bogart (as Capt. Queeg), Van Johnson (Maryk), Fred MacMurray (Keefer), Jose Ferrer (Greenwald) and others, the picture has to rest its claims on an interesting story and thrilling scenes instead of the powerful atmosphere the film might have had. Produced by Stanley Kramer. Playing for a week at advanced prices.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Last week, Bowers edged the Oilers, 6-5, and set back Bordens, 8-1. Bordens trimmed Matthews, 8-4, and Matthews defeated the Oilers, 4-2. The first-place team will receive the RCA Trophy, while the Playground Committee will give the coach of the champions a trophy and medals to the players.

Tennis Finals Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smoyer have reached the final round of the Community Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament, defeating Miss Priscilla Cortelyou and Philip Diggdon in the semi-finals. The score was 6-0, 6-2.

Miss Lydie McKinney and John Mack were scheduled to play Miss Barbara McCambridge and Vernon Blackman Wednesday in the other semi-final. The championship round will take place this Friday at 5:45 on the University Courts.

Going On Vacation?

Have your car carefully serviced before leaving. Be sure to have a flashlight and FIRST AID KIT in the glove compartment. Then remember—speed kills, take it easy!

Take it easy in the sun, too. Get a good supply of SUNTAN LOTION, and protect your eyes with SUN SPECTACLES. You'll find insect repellants and INSECT BOMBS will also often come in handy.

Accessories for the shore include BATHING CAPS and BEACH BAGS. (Don't forget to stay out of the water for at least an hour after eating!)

Distribute the load evenly in boats if you go canoeing or sailing. Check weather reports before going far on any large body of water.

While driving, remember that scenery can be taken in small doses from a moving car but that if you want to "drink it in deeply," pull over to the side of the road and stop. For a life time record of what you see, have a CAMERA and plenty of FILM with you.

Don't sample berries, touch unfamiliar plants or drink unpure water. Relax and enjoy yourself, and best wishes for a happy, healthful vacation from
